Actuarial Tags

The organization of data into actuarial service categorizations to support financial reporting.

▶ Our Approach

Healthcare data is messy, but it contains a vast amount of valuable intelligence that can inform healthcare organizations clinical and financial strategies.

At Certilytics, we are hyper-focused on turning our customer's data into a powerful analytic asset and an important step in that process is organizing data into actuarial service categories to support product pricing, trend analysis, benchmarking, underwriting and regulatory financial reporting.
